Lent 2019

"Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose trust the Lord is. He is like a tree planted by water that sends out its roots by the stream, and does not fear when heat comes, for leaves remain green, and is not anxious in the year of drought, for it does not cease to bear fruit" (Jeremiah 17: 7-8).

In October 2003, while on retreat at the Monastery of Christ in the Desert, near Abiquiu, New Mexico I heard this reading during one of the monastic offices: "Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose trust is the Lord...." This passage seemed almost to have been written with the location of the monastery in mind. The monastery is located in the desert in the heart of a canyon formed by the Rio Chama that flows through it. From the patio outside my room, I often sat in silence between the hours of prayer gazing at the birch trees that lined the banks of the river. My eyes were continually drawn to the bright yellow birch leaves blazing in their final fall glory before they fell to the earth. In the midst of the high desert, these trees flourished because they found their source of nourishment in the waters of the Chama river.

Jeremiah employs the metaphor of a river in the desert to talk about God. Similarly, the trees represent the "blessed" men and women who are nourished and fed by God at all times. What strikes me about this image of Jeremiah is the passive action of the blessed person who trusts in the LORD. The trees do not have to work to draw nourishment, rather they quietly and patiently place themselves near the life-giving and life-sustaining stream of life so that neither heat nor drought bring them to ruin or destruction. In the time of drought, the trees are not anxious or full of worry but are able to rest in God's presence and are capable of bearing fruit, even in the harshest and driest of conditions.

This Lent, I encourage you to reflect on how you draw nourishment from the stream of God's love and mercy. This year's Wednesday evening program for adults will focus on the Book of Common Prayer, the greatest Anglican resource of prayer, worship, and devotion. Our intergenerational Lenten program on three Sunday evenings will focus on themes of redemption, God's plan in our lives, and the saving grace of God, using St. Peter's musical productions to guide our program and activities.

It is my hope that our Lenten programs and the resources found in this booklet will help you find all that you need to draw you to prayer, contemplation, and silent rest in God's presence.

Faithfully yours,

The Rev. Dr. Craig A. Phillips,
 Rector

This booklet provides many resources to assist you in your daily Lenten devotions and readings. May you be drawn closer to our Savior Jesus Christ in this Lenten season.

The Grannyman by Judith Byron Schachner. Simon is an old cat who becomes quite discouraged in his old age. His family comes up with solution to cure Simon's blues: a new kitten! His new and unexpected companion lifts Simon's spirits and earns him a new nickname.

If you Give a Mouse a Cookie by Laura Numeroff. A wonderful book to read aloud to young children (ages 4-8).

The Giving Tree by Shel Silverstein. A classic children’s book that is also well-loved by adults.

The Velveteen Rabbit by Margery Williams. A nursery tale that tells of how, because of the love of a boy, a stuffed rabbit became real.

The Wind in the Willows by Kenneth Grahame. A classic tale for all ages of the joys and trials of friendship.

A LENTEN FAMILY PROJECT: “PRETZELS”

Pretzels? A Lenten project? Yes! Pretzels originated as a Lenten bread in the Middle Ages. Today, pretzels have become so much a part of everyday life, sold year round in grocery stores, snack counters and by street vendors, that their Lenten significance has been lost. Fasting, giving up meals altogether, or eating simplified meals has been a part of the Lenten tradition of self-discipline since the early New Testament Church. Thus, meal times became a focal point for Lenten prayer. In the Middle Ages, the monks at various monasteries in Europe conceived the idea of folding their bread sticks into the shape of arms folded in prayer. As they ate these “praying arm” bread sticks, they could continually focus on the meaning of Lent for their personal devotion.

Making pretzels is relatively easy and can be a fun project for the family. While you are making them, you can talk about where the practice started, why it was done, and why Lent is a time of prayer, devotion, and self-examination.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1½ cups warm water 4-5 cups flour
- 1 pkg. dry yeast 2 egg whites
- 1 teaspoon salt Coarse salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar

METHOD:

Dissolve the yeast in the warm water. Add sugar and salt; gradually stir in flour until the dough is stiff. Knead dough until smooth (about 10 minutes).

Divide dough into small pieces. Roll into ropes and twist into pretzel shape.

Brush with lightly beaten egg whites; sprinkle with coarse salt. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 12-15 minutes. (If you want hard pretzels reduce water to 1¼ cups and add ¼ cup melted margarine or butter.) These pretzels should be enjoyed right away!

The Following three books were written by Rowan Williams, the Archbishop of Canterbury from 2002-2012.

Where God Happens: Discovering Christ in One Another (2007). In this book, Williams maintains that the place where "God happens" is to be found in our one-on-one encounters with each other. The book offers a fresh reading of the 4th century Christians who retreated to the deserts of Egypt, Syria, and Palestine and shows how their lives can serve as role models for us today, particularly within the Anglican Communion.

Being Disciples: Essentials of the Christian Life (2016). "Discipleship," says Williams in this companion to his best-selling book, Being Christian, is a "state of being": "Discipleship is about how we live; not just the decisions we make, not just the things we believe, but a state of being." In his typically gentle, inviting, pastoral writing style, Williams offers biblically grounded wisdom for Christians in all stages of their journeys as disciples of Jesus.

The Sign and the Sacrifice: The Meaning of the Cross and Redemption (2017). Williams presents the Gospel accounts of Jesus' crucifixion and resurrection as viewed through the eyes of those who witnessed them. This book explores the meaning and significance of Jesus' cross and resurrection for both his earliest followers and us today.

Crazy Episcopalians: A Call to Follow Jesus by Michael B. Curry (2013). "What the Church needs, what this world needs, are some Christians who are as crazy as the Lord," writes Michael Curry, the current Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church. "Crazy enough to love like Jesus, to give like Jesus, to forgive like Jesus, to do justice, love mercy, walk humbly with God—like Jesus."

The Scandalous Gospel of Jesus by Peter Gomes (2007). The late Peter Gomes was an entertaining preacher and writer. In one of his last books he redirects the reader's attention from Jesus himself to the content of Jesus' message, reminding us that what Jesus actually had to say about society was and is in many ways 'scandalous' and uncomfortable.

LENTEN READING FOR CHILDREN

Lent is a good time to put into practice some family reading time. Books are a good way to begin a process of self-reflection by helping us to get inside the story, live it, ask questions about it, and let it challenge and shape our thoughts and ideas.

A Wrinkle in Time by Madeleine L'Engle. One of the most beloved children's books of all time and a 1963 Newbery Medal winner. (Age 9 and older). A Disney movie based on this book will be released in theaters on March 9, 2018.

The Quiltmaker's Gift by Jeff Brumbeau. A magical tale about a greedy king and a generous quilt maker who gives the quilts she makes only to the poor.

Miss Rumphius by Barbara Cooney (ages 4-8). The story of how one woman brings beauty to her town after travelling all over the world and inspires a young girl. A sweet picture book to read aloud.

The Clown of God and Patrick: Patron Saint of Ireland by Tomie Depaola. Depaola writes beautifully illustrated books for elementary school aged children. The Clown of God is a moving story about a travelling juggler who takes refuge in a monastery at the end of his life. DePaola's book on St Patrick provides a good introduction to the Irish saint just in time for St. Patrick's Day.

Miss Hunnicutt's Hat by Jeff Brumbeau. When the residents of Littleton hear that the Queen is coming to town, they immediately begin to beautify the town. They are scandalized when Miss Hunnicutt appears wearing a new hat from Paris with a chicken on it. "It has to go!" the people all say. But Miss Hunnicutt stands up for her right to wear what she likes. (Kindergarten to 3rd Grade).

Because of Winn-Dixie by Kate DiCamillo. (Newbery Honor Book, 2001). The story of a year-old girl named Opal who lives in Naomi, Florida with her preacher father and a big brown stray dog she meets one day on an errand to the local grocery store.

Many people like to read a book or two during Lent to deepen their understanding of how God works in their lives. Here is a list of different sorts of books each of which will challenge and enrich the sensitive reader:

The Book of Common Prayer: A Biography by Alan Jacobs (2013). This book will be the focus of our Wednesday night Lenten Series. The King James Version of the Bible and the Book of Common Prayer are among the most important and influential books in the English language. In this fascinating “biography” of the BCP the author traces its history from Archbishop Thomas Cramner’s study in the early 1530’s to modern versions adapted from it and their use in churches in the Anglican Communion, including our own Episcopal Church. The goal of these versions he maintains “is to be living words in the mouths of those who have a living faith.”

Practicing Forgiveness with All Your Heart, Soul, Strength and Mind. A Living Compass Seasonal Resource. This pamphlet, written by a number of contributors, focuses on forgiveness as central to the Christian life. For people of faith forgiveness is a practice that forms all of our relationships: with ourselves, with others, and with God. Through daily meditations and space to record your own thought and insights, this Living Compass resource will assist its readers in examining the spiritual practices and disciplines that will allow them to practice forgiveness in their lives. (Copies are available in the narthex.)

The Hymnal 1982. Many of the hymns in the hymnal of the Episcopal Church provide excellent material for prayer and meditation. Some are ancient; others are not. Why not meditate on a different unfamiliar hymn text each day during Lent?

Community Rules: An Episcopal Manual by Ian S. Markham and Kathryn Glover (2019). This short book by the Dean and Vice-President (respectively) of Virginia Theological Seminary identifies the Christian principles that underpin Episcopal community. It is an excellent resource for those serving parishes as leaders, volunteers, and employees in how to life everyday life together should be lived within the church.

A Way Other than our Own: Devotions in Lent by Walter Bruggemann (2017). Daily Lenten meditations by the perhaps the preeminent Old Testament scholar of our time. Reflecting on Isaiah 55:6-7, “Seek the LORD while he may be found, call upon him while he is near; let the wicked forsake their way, and the unrighteous their thoughts; let them return to the LORD, that he may have mercy on them, and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon,” Brueggemann focuses the reader’s attention on four key “Lenten verbs,” seek, call, forsake, and return.

R. S. Thomas. Everyman’s Poetry. The Welsh poet-priest R.S. Thomas (1913–2000) struggled with some of the same matters of faith that faced poets such as Mathew Arnold and Wallace Stevens, but unlike them he remained firmly rooted in the Christian tradition that his predecessors had abandoned. Thomas was born in Cardiff. He studied classics, then theology and, after ordination as an Anglican priest, served six rural Welsh parishes for most of his life. His first book of poems was published in 1946. He won the Queen’s Gold Medal for Poetry in 1964.

Beginning to Pray by Anthony Bloom (1970). A spiritual classic. The author was the son of a Russian diplomat, a physician, a monk, and an archbishop of the Russian Orthodox Church in Great Britain. He died in 2003 at the age of 89. “The realm of God is dangerous,” Bloom wrote. “You must enter into it and not just seek information about it....The day when God is absent, when he is silent—that is the beginning of prayer.”

Life in Christ by Julia Gatta (2018). Applying her years of experience as pastor combined with her study of the spiritual wisdom of the past, Mother Julia explores common Christian practices and their underlying theology through an Episcopal lens. With particular reference to scripture, The Book of Common Prayer, and the wisdom of the Christian spiritual tradition, she illuminates methods readers may already be practicing and provides insight and guidance to ones that may be new to them.

Life Together by Dietrich Bonhoeffer (1954). In this book Bonhoeffer, a renowned Christian pastor professor, and author of The Cost of Discipleship recounts his unique fellowship in an underground seminary during the Nazi years in Germany. Giving practical advice on how life together in Christ can be sustained in families and groups, Life Together is bread for all who are hungry for the real life of Christian fellowship.

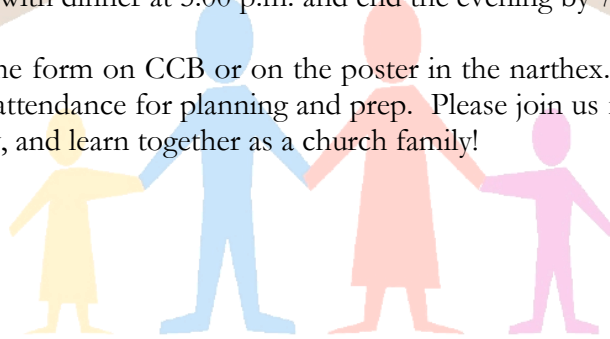

2019 INTERGENERATIONAL LENT EVENT KICKS OFF MARCH 24

We are happy to once again offer a Lenten program for parishioners of all ages. This year’s “Lent Event” will feature songs from past St. Peter’s musical productions, activities for young and old, and lessons on topics like sin and redemption, God’s plan for our lives, and the grace and love of God, all to help your family prepare for the joy of Easter!

March 24
 March 31
 April 7

We start with dinner at 5:00 p.m. and end the evening by 7:00 p.m.

Please RSVP through the form on CCB or on the poster in the narthex. It is important to sign up: we need an idea of attendance for planning and prep. Please join us for a wonderful opportunity to play, sing, pray, and learn together as a church family!

FIFTH SUNDAY IN LENT

O Almighty God, who alone canst order the unruly wills and affections of sinful men: Grant unto thy people that they may love the thing which thou commandest, and desire that which thou dost promise; that so, among the sundry and manifold changes of the world, our hearts may surely there be fixed where true joys are to be found; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with thee and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.

SUNDAY	Mark 8:31—9:1	THURSDAY	John 10:19-42
MONDAY	John 9:1-17	FRIDAY	John 11:1-27 or John 12:1-10
TUESDAY	John 9:18-41	SATURDAY	John 11:28-44 or John 12:37-50
WEDNESDAY	John 10:1-18

THE SUNDAY OF THE PASSION: PALM SUNDAY

Almighty and everlasting God, who, of thy tender love towards mankind, hast sent thy Son our Savior Jesus Christ to take upon him our flesh, and to suffer death upon the cross, that all mankind should follow the example of his great humility: Mercifully grant that we may both follow the example of his patience, and also be made partakers of his resurrection; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with thee and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

PALM SUNDAY	Matthew 21:12-17	MAUNDY THURSDAY	John 17:1:11(12-26)
MONDAY	John 12:9-19	GOOD FRIDAY	John 13: 36-38  John 19: 38-42 ***
TUESDAY	John 12:20-26	HOLY SATURDAY	Romans 8: 1-11 ***
WEDNESDAY	John 12:27-36	EASTER DAY	John 1: 1-18  Luke 24:13-35 or John 20: 19-23 ***

 Intended for use in the morning.  Intended for use in the evening.

THE WOUNDED LAMB OF GOD represents Jesus crucified. The lamb holds a cross. The blood, which flows into a chalice, signifies the body and blood of Christ (communion). The three-rayed nimbus (halo) signifies a member of the Trinity. This is a symbolic rendering of "the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29).

EXHORTATION TO THE OBSERVANCE OF A HOLY LENT

Dear People of God: The first Christians observed with great devotion the days of our Lord's passion and resurrection, and It became the custom of the Church to prepare for them by a season of penitence and fasting. This season of Lent provided a time in which converts to the faith were prepared for Holy Baptism. It was also a time when those who, because of notorious sins, had been separated from the body of the faithful were reconciled by penitence and forgiveness, and restored to the fellowship of the Church. Thereby, the whole congregation was put in mind of the message of pardon and absolution set forth in the Gospel of our Savior, and of the need that all Christians continually have to renew their repentance and faith.

I invite you, therefore, in the name of the Church, to the observance of a holy Lent, by self-examination and repentance; by prayer, fasting, and self-denial; and by reading and meditating on God's holy Word.
